

Lie Down and Fight

I cheated death on the Hagley Road
My only weapon was the Green Cross Code
The suits at work said "well, why weren't you driving?" just cos I'd rather see the Earth surviving My teachers said "you'll never fight the system off"
I never listened to a word, it really pissed 'em off Misspent my youth in the literature section, didn't do a lot for my earnings projection

*Lie down and fight
for the world, for your soul
Lie down now, gentle listener let the breath of Heaven lift yer above the busy, busy world*

From the world of your own inside your car the bus queue beside you, it seems so far Can you hear me across the distance?
I'll see you on the path of least resistance You've got your mobile phone, got your loyalty discount
All we've got is The Regulars, we've gotta make this count Cast aside your job application and we'll demand our right to hibernation

*Lie down and fight
for the world, for your soul
Lie down now, gentle listener hear the breeze inside you whisper above the thunder of the world*
