

Try

This is the time you see it's not so easy to live in a place where everybody wants to see you fall

But while you're dreaming for a while you're seeming deaf to every little sneer:
anachronistic,
even masochistic
just because you try and care

"You'll never change the world," they sigh You'll never know unless you try

As for the dreams, you've seen the bright ones fade away time after time
we've seen it once, we'll see it once again

Emphasising
you're not compromising as you flee this dreary town, but while you're flying all the while relying on the ones who'd bring you down

"You'll never change the world," they sigh You'll never know unless you try